Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: Taking a Side

Today you will judge two speakers at a Flagstaff City Council meeting who disagree about where to build a new skate park. Show what you already know. It is fine to guess!

1. Review (Week 28): Source A says a lake is "about 40 feet deep." Source B says it is "nearly 50 feet deep." Write one sentence that reports what both sources say and cites them.

2. Think of a time you tried to convince someone to agree with you. What did you want, and what reason did you give?

3. Which sentence is a claim someone could argue about?

   Flagstaff is in Arizona. | Our town should build a skate park. | The park closes at sunset.

4. Read: "Everybody in my class wants a later bedtime, so you should say yes." Is this a strong reason? Explain why or why not.

5. Why might it help a writer to explain the OTHER side's point of view before answering it?

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Weigh Both Sides

Write in complete sentences with correct capitals, commas, and transitions.

1. Two steps. Name one strong piece of evidence from Nizhoni AND one from Mr. Nolan. Then explain which site's argument you think is better supported, and why.

2. Find the mistake. Nikhil wrote: "Skate parks always cause trouble, so no town should ever build one." Name the reasoning trap and rewrite the sentence fairly.

3. The survey found 248 of 400 people support a skate park. Explain why this number cannot tell the council WHICH site to choose.

4. Be the editor. Rewrite correctly. a) dear council members b) However the park could of opened sooner.

★ Challenge: Write a short letter to the Flagstaff City Council for Site 1 OR Site 2: a greeting, a claim, one reason, a counterargument with a rebuttal, and a polite closing.

Looking Ahead: Week 30: the Final Checkpoint. You will review the skills from the whole program, from myths and mysteries to research and persuasive writing.
