PRE-LESSON WARM-UP · DO THIS BEFORE YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: What Do I Know About the Past?

Answer before the lesson. It is OK to guess!

1. Unit 3 review: Our coins say E pluribus unum, "Out of many, one." Why is that a good motto for the United States?

2. Name one thing you could look at to learn about life long ago.

3. Guess: How many years are in one decade?

   5 years | 10 years | 100 years

4. Draw something old from your family or home, like a photo, a tool or a toy. Label it.

5. Write one question you would ask an elder about when they were a kid.

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Think Like a Historian

Answer after the lesson. Use what you learned as evidence.

1. Write these years in order from oldest to newest: 1926, 1839, 2003, 1877.

2. Write P for primary or S for secondary next to each source: a diary from 1920 _____ a textbook from this year _____ a photo from 1936 _____ a video made today about the 1930s _____

3. Find the mistake: Sam says, "A book about the 1800s written in 2025 is a primary source." What is wrong? Explain.

4. Two steps: Lange took her photo in 1936. Florence Owens Thompson wrote her letter in 1978. How many years apart are they? How many whole decades is that?

★ Challenge: Interview an elder. Ask permission first! Write two things they remember from when they were your age.

Looking Ahead: Next week is Getting Around, Then and Now. Learn how people traveled long ago, from canoes and canals to trains and the first airplanes!
