Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: Clues Inside Words

Wyatt and Noor help a retired weather scientist run a neighborhood weather station in Norman, Oklahoma. Show what you already know. It is fine to guess!

1. Review (Unit 3): Rewrite the sentence with quotation marks, a comma, and capital letters where they belong: noor said the wind is getting stronger

2. The word thermometer has two parts: therm and meter. What do you think each part means?

3. In the word unsafe, the prefix un- means...

   not | again | before | full of

4. Read: "The puppy was timid, so it hid under the porch whenever a stranger came near." What does timid most likely mean? Which words helped you?

5. Write two words you know that begin with pre- or re-. Tell what each word means.

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Word Detective Report

Use roots, affixes, context clues, and spelling rules, and write like an editor.

1. Break each word into its parts. Write what each part means and what the whole word means. a) invisible b) portable c) geologist

2. Spell each new word. a) un + rely + able b) dis + agree + ment c) the "not" prefix + regular

3. Be the editor. Rewrite each sentence correctly. a) after the storm passed noor said the barometer is rising again b) Ms. Nwosu showed Wyatt and I the rain gauge.

4. Writing: Write 3 or 4 sentences about a storm you remember. Use two words from today's lesson (such as predict or visible) and one context clue. Check capitals, commas, and end marks.

★ Challenge: Invent a name for a new weather tool from two word parts in the lesson. Write one sentence that defines it.

Looking Ahead: Week 17: reading a play set on a Florida strawberry farm, with scenes, stage directions, and dialogue.
