PRE-LESSON WARM-UP · DO THIS BEFORE YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: Who Did the Work?

Write what you know right now. Guesses are fine; this is your starting point.

1. Review (Unit 3): Who did most of the work on the Central Pacific Railroad, and what did those workers go on strike for in 1867?

2. What do you already know about immigrants who came to the United States around the year 1900? Where did they come from, and why?

3. Guess: Why do you think some children around 1900 worked in mills, mines and city streets instead of going to school?

4. When workers go on strike, what do you think they do? Why might they do it?

5. Write one question you have about factories, immigrants or workers long ago.

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Who Did the Work?

Use evidence from today's lesson. Write in complete sentences.

1. Choose one Lewis Hine caption from today. What facts did he write down, and why?

2. Find the mistake: "Ellis Island and Angel Island treated every immigrant the same way." Explain what is wrong, using evidence.

3. Two steps: The census counted 1,990,225 working children ages 10 to 15 in 1910 and 1,060,858 in 1920. (a) How many fewer is that? (b) Why might the drop look bigger than it really was?

4. Andrew Carnegie paid for libraries and also backed breaking the Homestead union. Write two fair sentences about him.

★ Challenge: You are a garment worker at Cooper Union on November 22, 1909. Write two sentences to the crowd about why you will strike, using one fact from the lesson.
