PRE-LESSON WARM-UP · DO THIS BEFORE YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: What Do I Already Know?

Write what you know right now. Guesses are fine; this is your starting point.

1. Review (Week 17): In Plessy v. Ferguson (1896), the Supreme Court allowed "separate but equal." Were the separate places really equal? Give one piece of evidence.

2. What do you already know about the Indigenous nations of the Great Plains, such as the Lakota? Write two things.

3. A treaty is a promise between nations. What do you think should happen if one nation breaks a treaty?

4. Prediction: Why might a government send children to schools far away from their families? Who would gain, and who would lose?

5. Write one question you have about the American West after 1876.

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Resist, Survive, Remember

Use evidence from today's lesson. Write in complete sentences.

1. Explain, in order, two events that led to the Black Hills being taken from the Lakota by 1877.

2. Compare two sources. How do Pratt's 1892 speech and Zitkála-Šá's 1900 memory show one school system from two sides?

3. Two-step problem. Land fell from about 138 million acres (1887) to 48 million (1934). How much was lost? Which law caused much of it?

4. Find the mistake. "Chief Joseph wrote his surrender speech in English himself." What is wrong, and how do we know?

★ Challenge: You are a reporter in 1924 interviewing Zitkála-Šá about the Indian Citizenship Act. Write two questions you would ask and one answer she might give, using evidence.

Looking Ahead: Next week: Votes for Women (1848–1920), and Who Was Still Left Out. Bring this question: in 1920, could every Native American woman vote?
