PRE-LESSON WARM-UP · DO THIS BEFORE YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: What Do I Already Know?

Write what you know right now. Guesses are fine; this is your starting point.

1. Review (Week 19): The 19th Amendment (1920) protected women's votes. Name one group of women who were still kept from voting after 1920, and explain why.

2. What do you already know about World War I? Write anything: when, where, or who fought.

3. Prediction: Why might a country that stayed out of a war for years finally decide to join it?

4. Why do you think a family might pack up and move to a different part of the country? Give two reasons.

5. Write one question you have about soldiers, workers or families during World War I.

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Democracy Abroad, Democracy at Home

Use evidence from today's lesson. Write in complete sentences.

1. Put in order with years: the armistice; the Lusitania sinks; the United States declares war; the 369th marches up Fifth Avenue.

2. Two steps: Detroit had 5,741 Black residents in 1910 and 40,838 in 1920. How many more? Show your work and give one reason.

3. Find the mistake. "Every soldier who served in World War I was treated the same and honored right away." Rewrite it so it is true, using one person from the lesson.

4. Compare two sources. Wilson said in 1917, "The world must be made safe for democracy." Du Bois wrote in 1919, "We return fighting." How does Du Bois answer Wilson?

★ Challenge: Write a 2-sentence letter from a family member in Detroit in 1920 to a cousin in the South: what is better, and what is still hard?

Looking Ahead: Next week: The 1920s and the Harlem Renaissance, with Langston Hughes, Zora Neale Hurston, Duke Ellington, Louis Armstrong and the true story of Greenwood in Tulsa.
