Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: Stories Passed Down

Do this part BEFORE the lesson. Try your best. It is okay if some of it feels new!

1. Review: Read: The library lights went out, so Mr. Federico turned on a flashlight. What is the cause? What is the effect?

2. A folktale is a made-up story that people told out loud for many generations. Has a grown-up ever told you a story out loud? What was it about?

3. Number these story parts in order, from 1 to 3: _____ The seed grows into a tall sunflower. _____ A girl plants a seed. _____ She waters it every day.

4. A lesson is something a story teaches. Write one lesson you have learned from a story, a show, or a book.

5. Today you will read tales from Ghana, Puerto Rico, and Japan. What do you already know about one of these places?

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Retell, Prove, Compare

Use what you learned from the three folktales.

1. Retell Juan Bobo Goes to Work in three sentences: beginning, middle, and end.

2. Write the central message of Momotarō, the Peach Boy as a full sentence. Then write one detail that proves it.

3. Find the mistake: Faisal retells, Anansi tied the pot on his back and hid the wisdom at the top of the tree. What went wrong?

4. Two steps: Fallon made 12 kibi dango for Story Night. She gave 1 to each of the 3 storytellers and 1 to Mr. Federico. How many were left? Show your work.

★ Challenge: Compare Anansi and Momotarō. How are they alike? How are they different? Use the word share in your answer.

Looking Ahead: Next week: opinion writing! Read two kids' newspaper pieces from Asheville, North Carolina, and back up an opinion with reasons, examples, and linking words.
