PRE-LESSON WARM-UP · DO THIS BEFORE YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: What Do I Already Know?

Write what you know right now. Guesses are fine; this is your starting point.

1. Review (Week 21): Give one reason the United States entered World War I in 1917, and one reason so many Black families moved north during the war.

2. What do you already know about the 1920s, jazz, or the Harlem Renaissance?

3. Prediction: How might a radio or a car change a family's daily life in 1925? Name two ways.

4. Why do you think poems and songs can be good evidence about how people felt in the past?

5. Write one question you have about the 1920s.

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Who Shared in the Roaring Twenties?

Use evidence from today's lesson. Write in complete sentences.

1. Choose Langston Hughes, Zora Neale Hurston, Duke Ellington or Louis Armstrong. What did this person create, and what barrier did they push against?

2. Two steps: a Model T cost about $850 when it came out in 1908 and as little as $260 in the mid-1920s. How many dollars cheaper? Explain who could now own a car.

3. Find the mistake. "Greenwood was destroyed in 1921 and its people simply gave up." Rewrite it so it is true, using evidence about rebuilding.

4. Compare two sources. Hughes wrote "I, too, am America." The Red Cross wrote "NO ONE KNOWS." What does each tell a historian?

★ Challenge: Write one line of your own poem that begins "I, too," about belonging. Check your capital letters and commas.

Looking Ahead: Next week: The Great Depression and the New Deal (1929 to 1941), and who the New Deal helped or left out.
