PRE-LESSON WARM-UP · DO THIS BEFORE YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: Reading Between the Lines

Today you will read a story set in Sitka, Alaska, and a letter written by its main character. Show what you already know. It is fine to guess!

1. Review (Week 23): Name the kind of figurative language and tell what it really means: "The wind howled at the windows all night."

2. Read: "Arden stomped into the kitchen, dropped his muddy boots by the door, and would not look at anyone." How does Arden feel? Which clues tell you?

3. Which word is a character trait (how someone usually is), not a feeling that passes quickly?

   Sleepy | Generous | Surprised

4. Think of a character from a book or movie who changes. What were they like at the start, and what were they like at the end?

5. What is one thing in your own town that you think is boring? Write one sentence about what a visitor might notice about it instead.

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Character Change Detective

Write in complete sentences with correct capitals, commas, and quotation marks.

1. Read: "When Grandpa handed Anya a knife to clean her first fish, she wrinkled her nose. Then she rolled up her sleeves." Make an inference about Anya, and give the clue.

2. In sentences: what is Anya like at the beginning (one trait, one clue)? What changes her? What is she like at the end (one trait, one clue)?

3. Find the mistake. Anders wrote: "Anya likes Seattle better because Seattle has more stores." Why is this a guess and not an inference?

4. Be the editor. Rewrite each sentence correctly. a) However Anya forgot her phone. b) Arvid asked, "can you show me the whale?"

★ Challenge: In 3 or 4 sentences, show (do not tell) how Arvid changes on his first day on Grandpa's boat.

Looking Ahead: Week 25: Unit 5 Checkpoint. Review text structures, firsthand and secondhand accounts, figurative language, and character change and inference.
