Pre-Lesson Warm-Up: Think Like a Detective

Today you will solve two mysteries set in Savannah, Georgia: one in a bookshop on Wright Square and one in Forsyth Park. Show what you already know. It is fine to guess!

1. Review (Week 26): Mitsuko says, "Fractions are my Achilles' heel." What does she mean? Tell the myth behind the allusion in one sentence.

2. Name a mystery book, show, or movie you know. What was the puzzle, and who solved it?

3. Read: "The window was open, and the goldfish bowl was empty. The cat sat on the sill. But the fish was swimming in the kitchen sink, where Mom was cleaning the bowl." Who looked guilty? What was the truth?

4. A red herring in a mystery is most likely a clue that...

   points to the truth | points the wrong way | is a real fish

5. Why do you think a detective should look at ALL the clues before naming a suspect?

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Post-Lesson Activity: Case Notes

Write in complete sentences with correct capitals, commas, and quotation marks.

1. Read: "Ms. Moira's reading glasses were missing. Mikael had ink on his fingers. A pencil was tucked behind Ms. Moira's ear, and a shiny frame peeked out of her hair." Name the red herring, the real clue, and your conclusion.

2. Two steps. In "The Case of the Missing Compass," which clue does Mitsuko call quiet? Explain how it narrows the suspects to two people.

3. Find the mistake. Monty wrote: "In both mysteries, the first suspect is guilty." Correct his sentence and give one piece of evidence from each story.

4. Be the editor. Rewrite each sentence correctly. a) "Moxie is innocent" Mrs. Mitra said. b) The pies was in the cooler.

★ Challenge: Write the opening of your own short mystery set in Savannah, Georgia, with one red herring and one quiet clue (3 or 4 sentences).

Looking Ahead: Week 28: Reading several sources to answer one question. You will gather facts about the monarch butterfly migration to the forests of Michoacán, Mexico, take notes, and cite which source said what.
