The Line Around the Block

PRE-LESSON WARM-UP · DO THIS BEFORE YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

Before the Line Forms

It's early Saturday morning — Mia has no idea what's about to happen at the festival. Before you read her story, warm up your reading brain — and your handwriting — on the exact skills you'll use today.

1 Match each word to its meaning. Write the matching letter next to each word.

___ conflict	A. Specific details from the text that support an answer
___ resolution	B. The main problem a character faces ___ infer	C. The deeper lesson or message a story teaches ___ perspective	D. Figure something out using clues, not stated directly
___ theme	E. How the main problem finally gets solved
___ evidence	F. The particular way one character sees or feels about events

2 Inference Warm-Up: Read this sentence: "Jordan's fists clenched as the referee raised the other boxer's hand." What can you INFER about how Jordan feels, even though the sentence never says a feeling word? Write your answer in a full sentence.

3 Handwriting Focus: Copy this sentence in your best cursive or print: "The busiest day can turn into the biggest lesson."

4 Have you ever had to think fast when something didn't go as planned? Write 2-3 sentences about it. Use your neatest handwriting.

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

The Sun Sets on Fifth Street

The line is gone, the sun is low, and Mia's arms ache from a whole day of serving. Now show what you learned about conflict, inference, and theme — with your very best handwriting.

1. In 3-4 sentences, retell Mia's conflict and how it was resolved. Use complete sentences and your neatest handwriting.

2. Find ONE sentence from the story that shows a character's feelings WITHOUT stating the feeling directly (an inference clue). Copy it exactly, word for word, in your best handwriting.

3. In your own words, write what this story's THEME is. Write in full sentences.

★ Challenge: Write your OWN 4-5 sentence story about a character solving a problem. Include a conflict AND a resolution. Use your best cursive or print — this is a handwriting sample, so take your time!

Handwriting Check: Before turning this in, look back over everything you wrote today. Are your letters sitting on the lines? Are your capital letters and periods where they should be?

Looking Ahead: Next week we'll read one afternoon told from two sides — Zoe's and her little brother Milo's. Bring this sheet back to your next lesson!
